So yes, we know, the Rolling Stones are steamrolling Philadelphia on June 18 and 21, when they play the Wells Fargo Center. "But who," you ask, sweatily, "will sing the essential choral backing for 'You Can't Always Get What You Want?'" There must be a choir! Worry not. The Crossing, a Philly-based 24-voice professional chamber choir led by Donald Nally, say they'll step in! They usually specialize in commissioned new work, but hey, the Stones are the Stones. We bet they'll get quite the re-cep-tion!

Wilding at the Museum

Maurice Sendak fans, rejoice! The Rosenbach Museum & Library just opened up a new Sendak exhibition Tuesday, running through March 2, celebrating the 50th anniversary of Where the Wild Things Are. It's titled "The Night Max Wore His Wolf Suit: 50 Years of Wild Things." There's original artwork and manuscripts.
